The Analysis - Type 1

- People see you as someone they should 'handle with care'. You're seen as self-centered, and who is extremely dominant. Others may admire you, wishing they could be more like you, exciting, highly volatile, a natural leader, who's quick to make decisions, though not always the right ones. Someone who will try anything once, someone who takes chances and enjoys an adventure. This type of people are Extrovert, they have a very big fear of losing friends, they are very good in maintaining relations & they can never thing wrong about someone.

The Analysis – Type 2

- People see you as sensible, cautious. They see you as Not a person who makes friends too quickly or easily, but someone who's extremely loyal to Those who really get to know you, but equally that it takes you a long time to get over if that trust is broken. It would really surprise them if you ever did something impulsively, People think you are shy, nervous, and indecisive, someone who needs looking after, who always wants someone else to make the decisions and who doesn't want to get involved with anyone or anything. This type of people can be called as Introvert who is not open to socialization, people get easily annoyed with such people.

CONCLUSION

- Avantika has a diverse mix of faculty members with varied expertise even though they represent different ideas and perspectives.
- All faculty members have supportive and motivating personality readily pushing the youth forward to achieve greatness and contribute to the society.
- The staff seems quite satisfied with their work and teaching methodologies.
- The place where I found the gap is the interaction of teachers with students as many students are terrified and therefore unwilling to approach and communicate with the faculty upfront.
- Low tier employees are generally envious and develop a feeling of discrimination.
